

CITY REACHES GOAL IN COMMUNITY CAMPAIGN

5-BILLION TAX BILL TO BE LAW; FDR WON'T SIGN

Announces decision in Address to Arthur Dale Homesteaders

PROPOSAL TO BE
LAW AT MIDNIGHT

Acts, He Says, To Call Attention To "Unwise Parts of Bill"

(By Associated Press)
ARTHURDALE, HOMESTEADERS, Va., May 27.—President Roosevelt announced at the Arthur Dale Homesteaders school commencement exercises today that he would personally become law without his signature.

"If I sign the bill," Mr. Roosevelt said in his address to the Arthur Dale homesteaders and to the nation over the radio, "and I give until midnight tonight to sign it, many people will think I approve the abandonment of an important principle of American taxation."

"If I veto the bill it will prevent many of the desirable features of it from going into effect."

"Therefore for the first time since I have been President, I am going to take the third course which is open to me. I am going to let the act go into effect at midnight tonight without my approval."

The President said he was permitting the tax measure to become law in that way to call attention to "unwise parts" of the bill.

The tax measure, which thus becomes law, contains a remnant of the undistributed profits tax recommended by Mr. Roosevelt and continued by business. It completely overhauls former capital gains taxes—also attacked by business—by substituting flat rates for graduated scales.

Penalty Is Small

Noting that the legislation retains the principle of the undistributed profits tax, the President said: "The penalty for withholding dividends to stockholders is so small—only two and a half per cent at the most—that it is doubtful whether it will wholly eliminate the old tax avoidance practices of the past."

As to the adoption of the flat capital gains tax, the President asserted: "The abandonment of the principle of progressive taxation in accordance with capacity to pay may encourage a small amount of capital to go into protective enterprises but chiefly, it will help those who make large profits in buying and selling existing stocks."

District Schools Are Sold for $985

Four of the five district schools in the city school district which went for sale this week brought a total of $985.

Chauncey Ashman purchased for $130 the Brushville; Lester Strohecker for $265, the Miami; and George Gorbey the one known as Stough's for $150.

The new $45,000 building at Unity rapidly approaching completion will be finished in ample time for the fall term.

Pickets Repulsed At Goodyear Gates; 60 Hurt In Battle

Police Clubs and Tear Gas Used Against 4,000 In Outbreak at Midnight As Union Attempts To Stop Change of Shifts

(By Associated Press.)
AKRON, May 27.—Police clubs, tear gas and nauseating gas repulsed 4,000 pickets and sympathizers massed at the gates of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., today.

At least 60 men and women were injured.

Police Chief Rae Williams was reported to have requested the sheriff's office to ask for national guard assistance.

However, Adj. Gen. Emil Marx of the Ohio National Guard said no troops had been ordered into Akron.

The attack went on for several hours after its outbreak at the midnight changing of shifts, but the crowd gradually dwindled until only 100 remained a block from the plant—held there by a line of policemen, rifles in hand.

Hundreds of tear gas shells exploded into the night, and police made a virtual "war zone" of the area about the plant gates.

STATE WATCHES AKRON STRIKE

Guard Chief Believes Local Police Can Handle Situation

(By Associated Press.)
COLUMBUS, May 27.—Adj. Gen. Emil F. Marx expressed belief today that Akron authorities would be able to maintain peace at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. plant, scene of night-long rioting, without the aid of national guard troops.

"Mayor Lee D. Schroy was prepared to ask Governor Dacey for troops, but after conferring with our observers and noting that no disturbance occurred at the 6 a. m. shift of workers at the plant, he decided to defer his request," Marx said.

Six national guard officers were stationed at Akron to observe conditions.

"They informed me that things were pretty bad there for a while and it looked like troops might be needed," Marx said, "but everything seems to be quiet now. The plant will close at 6 p. m. and we don't look for any trouble before it reopens Tuesday."

Marx kept in constant touch with Gov. Martin L. Dacey throughout the night, relaying reports from the observers.

A year ago during the Mahoning valley steel strike, Dacey ordered the troops to preserve the "status quo" at the plants of the Republic Steel Corp. and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., then instructed them to protect any men desiring to return to work.

Dacey was in Toledo today.

Maj. Gen. Gilson D. Light of Toledo, who directed troop activities during the steel strike, was in charge of the observers at Akron. Officers there besides him were: Gen. William L. Marlin of Cleveland; Gen. Frank B. Henderson of Columbus; Major Dale V. Thibaut of Columbus and Capt. Frederick T. Ruffner of Akron.

KELLY BEGINS "THE ROAD BACK"

New York Parole Breaker, In Custody of New York Officer Enroute to Buffalo

Judy Kelly, alias James Davis, 47, figure in a widely-publicized homicide, N. Y. murder case which occurred 19 years ago, was removed from the city jail last evening and placed aboard the 6:31 train, bound for Buffalo, N. Y.

He was accompanied by Eugene M. Moody, officer from the division of parole of the state of New York, who arrived here yesterday morning to take Kelly back to face a charge of parole violation.

The charge of driving while intoxicated, lodged against him by Patrolman Clifford Todd, was nolle.

Kelly originally was sentenced from 20 years to life. He had served 16 years when paroled. He expressed to friends the belief he'd be given an extra five years but New York officials said they wouldn't be surprised if it would be life, now, in view of his escape attempt a number of years ago and then his parole break.

CONVICT "SLOTS" KING IN DEATH OF ROY MARINO

Mahoning County Jurors
Declare John Anthou-
lis Is Guilty

MERCY VERDICT
SAVES HIS LIFE

Solly Hart and Herbert
Ross Await Trials On Murder Counts

YOUNGSTOWN, May 27.—A jury of eight men and four women last night found John Anthoulis, Steubenville slot machine king guilty of first degree murder in the killing of Roy (Happy) Marino, Youngstown racketeer and paroled bank robber.

The jury recommended mercy. It deliberated nine hours.

The verdict makes a sentence of life imprisonment in Ohio penitentiary mandatory.

Shows Little Emotion

Anthoulis, sitting among his attorneys when the verdict was read, showed little emotion. He fidgeted slightly in his chair as Judge Erskine Maiden, Jr., remanded him to the county jail, pending the motion for a new trial, which Hugo H. Chestoskey, Steubenville, defense attorney, said would be filed.

"We'll carry this to the supreme court if necessary," Chestoskey said.

After the verdict was read, Judge Maiden polled the jurors.

Prosecution attorneys thanked the members of the panel for "fearlessness and ability to weigh testimony."

Anthoulis' trial resulted from an indictment returned by a Mahoning county grand jury in April, seven months after Marino's bloody was found in a roadside ditch, near Rogers, Columbiana county, ridiculed with bullets.

The state charged that Anthoulis plotted to have Marino killed because of Marino's alleged attempt to "muscle in" on the Steubenville racket.

The case went to the jury seven minutes before noon after a brief charge by Judge Maiden and a renewed plea for the death penalty by Prosecutor William A. Ambrose.

Charges He Directed It

Pointing his finger at Anthoulis, Ambrose said:

"It may be news to you, Anthoulis, Turn to CONVICT, Page 8

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL PLANNED

Four Churches to Co-operate In Project Beginning June 13

Plans are being made for a union daily vacation Bible school, sponsored by the Methodist, Christian, Presbyterian and Baptist churches, to be held at the Junior High school building for two weeks beginning Monday, June 13.

The four ministers, Rev. Thompson, Rev. Evans, Rev. Walter and Rev. Magann, will cooperate in the daily programs of the school. Teachers will be enlisted from the respective churches. Rev. Magann is promotion chairman.

The program of the school will consist of Bible stories, dramatization, music, supervised play and handiwork. The classes are being arranged for boys and girls of 15 years and under.

The school will have three aims: To help boys and girls get better acquainted with the Bible; in the

Mrs. Louise Wolf, 77, Succumbs Here

Mrs. Louise Wolf, 77, who had resided in Salem most of her life, died at 10:40 p. m. Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. L. Harroff, 1634 E. State st., following four weeks' illness.

She was born in St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 17, 1861, but had lived here more than 50 years. She was a member of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church. Her husband, John, and a son, Harry, preceded her in death.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Carl R. Kreutzer of S. Broadway and Mrs. H. L. Harroff; one brother, Sylvester Bersche of Denver, Col.; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. C. H. Knowles of W. Fifth st.; two granddaughters, Mrs. Frank E. Henry of Lisbon and Mrs. John W. Holzworth of Salem; one great-grandson, Karl Robert Henry.

The funeral service will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday at the Lutheran church, with the pastor, Rev. George D. Keister, officiating. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Friends may call at the Harroff home, 1634 E. State st., Saturday evening. The body is now at the Henry funeral home in Lisbon.

Morgan Airs Charges Against TVA at Hearing

Dr. Morgan talking with Walter Kohoe; David E. Lilienthal

Charges that improper cost accounting had deceived the public about the expense of TVA activities were made by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, ousted chairman of the board, when he testified before a congressional committee checking into operations of the project.

Dr. Morgan, shown conferring with Walter Kohoe, his former assistant, was forced out because of his feud with David E. Lilienthal, shown at the hearing, and H. A. Morgan, the other two members of the board.

CONGRESS ASKS RELIEF ACTION

Ohio Members Call on Dacey to Relieve "Serious Situation"

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 27.—Ohio's legislature two weeks of its special relief session today called for "fearlessness and ability to weigh testimony."

The senate quit late yesterday—the house was in recess until Tuesday—shortly before a telegraphic appeal from Ohio congressional members to Gov. Martin L. Dacey urged that the legislature "act at once to meet the serious situation in Cleveland."

The message followed a conference in Washington between Cleveland's Mayor Harold Burton, Cleveland city councilmen, Senators Buckley and Donahay and Representatives Crosser, Sweeney, Mosier and Fieger.

Improper, Says Buckley

Mayor Burton told the group that perhaps the legislature might be delaying action on a relief program in belief that a new federal program would provide it.

"This is grossly improper," Buckley said, "there will be no federal appropriations for direct relief."

At Akron, A. Lee Fair (D-Holmes), chairman of the special house relief investigating committee, declared today:

"The federal government has helped through the WPA, why can't it help by direct relief, too?" Fair said the appeal would not hurry the work of the committee, which already has conducted inquiries at Cleveland, Toledo, Akron and Warren.

"Other centers and rural counties demand that we balance the picture," he asserted. Informed sources said the committee would extend two weeks from June 1, when it is due to report to the legislature.

Plan Cornerstone Laying On June 2

With the laying of the first brick this week for their new church edifice at N. Lundy and Second, Presbyterians have made tentative plans for a cornerstone laying ceremony on Sunday, June 12.

Material is now being prepared to be placed in a receptacle in the cornerstone, but the building committee has not decided how pretentious the ceremony will be.

To conform to the design of the building, Colonial brick is being used to add an artistic touch to the structure.

The buy-a-brick campaign, for the benefit of the building fund, has been quite successful to date. Several contributions from former members and friends of the Salem church have been received from Florida, Missouri and other distant states.

MASONIC GROUP HAS SERVICES

125 Attend Annual Ascension Day Exercises; Dinner and Musical Program Features

One-hundred and twenty-five persons were in attendance at the annual Ascension day service and program of Salem commandery No. 42, Knights Templar, Thursday afternoon and evening in the Masonic temple.

The affair was for the Sir Knights, their ladies and friends.

Rev. Howard Miller of Hanoverton delivered the sermon at the service which opened at 5:30. Rev. George D. Keister, pastor of Holy Trinity English Lutheran church, gave the invocation and benediction.

Songs were sung by Mrs. Gerald Eells of Lisbon, accompanied by Miss Jean Maxwell, also of Lisbon, and Miss Doris Tedlow, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Stoudt.

The same musicians were heard during the evening program, and in addition, Marion McArthur, and Charles Freed in a trumpet and piano duet. Elaine Aiken of Leetonia gave a reading.

Principal speaker after the dinner, which was held at 6:30, was Ira F. Mellinger of Leetonia. John H. Carpenter was program chairman.

$17,961 PLEGGED IN 2 DAYS

Indications Are Final
$18,000

Over the top last night with $17,961.33, Salem's annual Community Chest campaign was in the "clean-up" stage today, with indications that the final figure will surpass $18,000. The original goal set for a two-day drive, was $17,700.

The figures were announced at a dinner meeting of workers at the Memorial building last night by General Chairman H. C. Hurlburt and Executive Committee Chairman W. L. Hart after reports had been turned in by captains of the various teams.

Each team this year was assigned a definite quota and a definite section of territory in which to get it.

The team numbers, the percentage of quota and the total figures, from left to right, are as follows:

| | | |
|--------------|-----------|-------------|
| No. 1 | 147 | $ 441.75 |
| No. 2 | 102 1-3 | 307.00 |
| No. 3 | 101 | 1,528.39 |
| No. 4 | 88 | 1,768.00 |
| No. 5 | 101 | 607.07 |
| No. 6 | 99 (plus) | 3,790.00 |
| No. 7 | 92 9 | 929.00 |
| No. 8 | 156 6 | 467.82 |
| Ex. Com. 114 | | 8,212.10 |
| Total | | $17,961.33 |

At the conclusion of the tabulation, F. J. Emery, who has presided over meetings of the Salem Welfare Federation in charge of the budgeting for the community institutions—eight this year—moved that the federation be reorganized to include a number of the younger citizens of the city. The motion was unanimously adopted. Steps toward this objective will be taken at a meeting Tuesday evening at the Memorial building.

At this meeting will be not only officers of the present chest drive, but the officers who will supervise the 1939 chest campaign—James H. Wilson as general chairman and L. H. Colley, as chairman of the executive committee and representatives of Rotary, Kiwanis and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Emery, Chairman Hurlburt and Hart extended their thanks to the members of the various team organizations which worked during the campaign and especially lauded the efforts of the teams recruited from the ranks of the recently organized Junior Chamber of Commerce. They also praised the generous spirit in which the community responded.

The invocation and benediction were, respectively, by Rev. R. D. Walter and Rev. S. Talmage Magann at last night's meeting. Music during the meeting was provided by the High School brass sextet, directed by G. M. Braggam, with a tuba solo by Joseph Cooper.

HEALTH BOARD FINDS RABIES

Report on Canine Slain by Policemen Is Received by Local Authorities

The board of health reported today that the dog which police shot and killed on Jennings ave. Tuesday, was found to have rabies. The report came last night from the state health board at Columbus where the animal's head was sent for examination.

This marks the third distinct case of rabies in the city, the board of health pointed out, as Dr. R. T. Holzbach, health commissioner, repeated his warning to dog owners to keep their pets at home and not allow them to run at large until "this scare is over."

He further suggested that if the owners value their pets, that they have them inoculated by a veterinarian, against infection from other dogs.

The animal, a spaniel, which the police shot Tuesday, but a little boy, but the health board explained that 14 other persons who had come in contact with the dog that day were being treated against rabies infection.

Warns of Enemies From Within Nation

Addressing members of the Salem Kiwanis club following their noon luncheon Thursday at the Memorial building, Judge J. H. C. Lyons of Youngstown stressed the significance of Memorial day, today, in view of world strife.

He scorned the idea of an offense against America by any foreign power, because, he pointed out, the airplanes and ships are not built yet which are capable of crossing 3,000 miles of ocean and hitting back without difficulty.

"Our problem," he said, "is to attack our enemies from within, not without; and our enemies are Communists, anarchists and other day of this stripe who are constantly propagandizing our country."

He was presented by Atty. Lozier Caplan.

CINCINNATI, May 27.—After June 1 police will issue no more permits for bingo "or any sort of gambling games."

THE SPIRIT OF SALEM

For more than a quarter of a century Salem has responded so nobly to public appeals for support of welfare organizations that its reputation in this respect is viewed with envy by many other cities in this section of the state. It first demonstrated its spirit of generosity in 1912 when it over-subscribed the amount sought to build a community hospital, and then contributed enough the following year to complete the $100,000 institution.

Since then it has repeatedly exceeded the goal in annual campaigns to raise funds to operate organizations for the welfare of its people. It has never failed to support Community Chest campaigns. It did not fail this year. When the budget of $17,700 for the support of eight welfare institutions during the year was determined, it seemed like an insurmountable task to raise that amount of money under present conditions. But everyone, from the small to the large contributor, seemed to understand, fully and readily, his obligation.

Never before was the spirit of the campaign so much in evidence. In the great majority of cases there was an eagerness to give, and almost everyone seemed to appreciate the need for giving as much as possible. This praise-worthy spirit encouraged the volunteer workers, to whom much of the credit is due for the success of the campaign, but none of these workers will want to detract from those who gave so willingly, any part of the credit that is theirs. From the preliminary organization work until the goal was reached last night, the campaign was admirably handled by General Chairman H. C. Hurlburt and his assistant, W. L. Hart, chairman of the executive committee. And seldom have team captains done as good a job as they did this year. New workers, most of them young men, bore the brunt of solicitation and gained the experience that will serve so well in future community campaigns.

As the result of their work, and the response of the public, eight organizations of which the city is mighty proud will be able to carry on throughout the year—a year when their services are greatly in demand. All who contributed in any way should feel happy that they had some part in this fine community spirit.

MEMORIAL DAY

The bright new flags and fresh flowers placed this Memorial day on the graves of America's soldiers will be symbols of a great resolution in the hearts of the living to keep the number of those graves from being increased.

It is not a new resolution. It was formed after the Civil war. It was formed after the Spanish-American war. It was made again after the World war. It is being given new meaning now by the threat of another great war.

Americans do not know what specific form the war threat will take for them in the next few years. They do know that they have no natural enemy, nor inclination to fight. The spirit of war has not burst into flame here.

This nation has no ambitions which must be attained by the slaughter of its young men, or the slaughter of another nation's young men. Its one great desire is to live at peace. It does not look upon war either as glorious or inevitable.

It believes that war is a betrayal of the people. It honors its soldier dead for the sacrifice they made, but it does not honor the brutal stupidity which calls for sacrifices of life to atone for its mistakes.

A SPORTING PROPOSITION

The blowup of the War Admiral-Seabiscuit match race was no surprise to many. One turf writer, versed in the history of match races, stated as recently as last Saturday he was certain the two horses would not go to the post May 30.

A match race between champion horses is the rarest of all sporting events, no such contest having been held since 1923 when Zev defeated Papyrus. Such a race is almost as rare as the collision of two stars in the firmament.

With racing patrons like Samuel D. Riddle, owner of War Admiral, and Charles S. Howard, owner of Seabiscuit, the sport has never been a commercial proposition. The thrill of seeing their colors flash under the wire first is the remuneration they seek, and since Mr. Howard feared his horse would not

TAXES ARE MAJOR ISSUE IN FAMILY BUDGET

NEW YORK — How taxes swing the tide of battle in the budgeting struggles of the average family is revealed in a scientific study of typical incomes and expenditures by Howell A. Ingham, Professor of Accounting at Columbia University.

The study by Professor Ingham included surveys by the Public Affairs Committee, outlining the average earnings and expenses of typical families in several sections of the country.

"Itemizing a family's budget into rent, interest, repairs, and expenses does not show a segregation of the hidden taxes that are ultimately paid by the consumer," Professor Ingham declared. "The picture is only complete when the expenditures are reviewed in the light of the amount represented by taxes."

In stressing the importance of including taxes in expenditure analyses, Professor Ingham said: "It is evident that hidden taxes are monetary terms, for although they cannot be seen these taxes are tearing chunks out of national income at the rate of 25 cents out of every dollar.

"As a specific example, it is be equal to the task set for him, not even the lure of a $100,000 purse would tempt him to take a chance.

This leaves the matter pretty much up in the air, with the majority believing that, speed charts to the contrary, War Admiral would have taken the lead at the break and stayed in front throughout.

AS DR. MORGAN HAS HIS SAY

The six charges with which Dr. A. E. Morgan, former TVA chairman, opens the congressional investigation of that agency's affairs can be boiled down to one word: Mismanagement.

Mismanagement is the traditional weakness of government enterprise. It is the reason most Americans remain skeptical of government attempts to manage complex affairs.

The TVA is to become a "yardstick" for the control of electrical utilities, according to new deal theory. New dealers assume such a yardstick is essential. There is irony in the fact that the yardstick they have created is to be used so soon, not to measure private utilities, but to measure their own qualifications for operating a vast government enterprise in a way which will command the people's confidence.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, May 28

Sudden and surprising occurrences mark this day, according to mutual and lunar aspects of very interesting planets. These may precipitate singular, unusual, intriguing or mysterious events that may fall with quite unforeseen force, and most probably bring radical change upon the life and its destiny. It is likely that romance and adventure will figure at the present time, with either secrecy or strange conspiracy.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very eventful and intriguing year, possibly a thrilling one, although secrecy, subtlety and collusion of a very quiet sort dominate such adventures. These may be in the direction of romance, sentiment or spiritual experience, but all may bring sudden change and surprising denouements.

A child born on this day may be ingenious, inventive, original and independent, with much intellectual as well as spiritual awareness. It may have an adventurous, rich and intriguing life.

SINUSITIS

NOWADAYS WHEN I meet a friend who is suffering from a cold, almost invariably he tells me he has a "touch of sinus." This is a common term for inflammation of one or more of the nasal sinuses, or "sinusitis," as the doctors call it. It seems almost fashionable to have it.

In a measure, perhaps, our way of living has something to do with the prevalence of sinusitis. More than likely we know more about this ailment than our ancestors did. But it is certain few references to anything like this affliction are found in the old records.

Whether it is a disease of modern civilization, as some contend, it is not a pleasant ailment. Indeed, it is an annoying and frequently, a painful affliction.

The nasal sinuses are the hollow spaces or cavities located in the bony structure of the head and face. These are lined with mucous membrane which is moist and warm, offering just the right soil for the growth of germs.

When the germs locate in one of these spaces, it is not long before there is pus formation and then the real trouble begins. Then, we have infection and it is a bad place for it. The complicated anatomical arrangement of this region is such that it cannot be drained easily. For this reason the condition hangs on and may become chronic.

What Causes It

Repeated head colds, coryza, inflammation of the upper air passages and certain constitutional diseases are likely to lead to sinusitis. Some attacks are mild, but if the pus forms the infection may persist for a long period of time.

Please do not think sinusitis is incurable. When attended to in its early stages, complete cure is readily possible. The chronic form of the disease is more difficult to deal with and sometimes requires surgery.

In addition to the local discomfort, chronic sinusitis leads to lowering of the general health. This is caused by the absorption of certain toxins or poisons which are produced. These may cause inflammation, with distressing symptoms in different parts of the body. For example, the sufferer from sinusitis may complain of headache, indigestion, arthritis, neuritis, constipation and other annoying disorders.

I always warn the victim of a simple head cold about the possibility of this complication. Indeed, the cold is frequently the forerunner of sinusitis. Prompt attention to it may save a lot of discomfort and real disability.

SCOTIA, Cal.—A few of the reasons why Charlie Buck won the log-bucking championship of the California redwoods by sawing through a 32-inch redwood log in 2 minutes 49.4 seconds are that he weighs 284 pounds and stands 6 feet 6 in in his stocking feet. He took 304 strokes with the saw to sever the log.

LOS ANGELES—America suffers seriously from too much vagueness and especially from too many vague words, according to Fred W. Orth, visual education authority. The only solution he believes is education by the film which brings to the student reality and objectivity first and words afterward.

Mrs. J. W. Astry Hostess To Spencer Class Members

Members of the Spencer class of the Presbyterian church entertained at a delightful and successful silver benefit tea Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Astry, East State st.

Funds obtained will be turned into the building fund of the church. The home was attractive with bouquets of spring garden flowers.

Mrs. J. C. Portor, teacher of the class, announced the following program: Piano selections, Mrs. Homer S. Taylor; readings, Mrs. Grace Ferguson of East Liverpool; vocal solos, Mrs. R. W. Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Hundertmark.

Mandolin solos, Mrs. J. T. Burns, accompanied by Mrs. E. E. Dyball;

French horn numbers, Wallace Luce, with accompaniment by Miss Bettie Sharp; piano solos, Mrs. Hundertmark; vocal solos, Shirley Morey, accompanied by Mrs. Taylor; accordion solos, Hazel Capel.

Tea was served to about 100 members and guests at a beautifully appointed table. The center decoration included Japanese iris, lemon lilies, and painted daisies. The table was lighted by yellow tapers in crystal candelabra.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. H. C. Cole of Canton, Mrs. A. R. Collinson, Mrs. O. C. Jurgens, Mrs. Martha Campbell, Mrs. F. E. Moore, Mrs. C. S. Carr and Mrs. F. J. Tate.

Guests included visitors from East Liverpool, Canton and Lisbon. The regular meeting of the class will be held Tuesday evening, May 31, at the home of Mrs. Stanton Heck, East State st.

The committee in charge, headed by Mrs. Howard Chamberlain, will include Mrs. L. R. Cobb, Mrs. Wilbur Finley, Mrs. Mary Grubbs and Mrs. Homer Barber.

A special program is planned, a feature of which will be the revealing of "secret pals" names.

All members are urged to attend.

Business College Has Formal

More than 100 students and faculty members of the Salem Business college and their guests enjoyed the annual college spring formal in the Cassidy dance hall last night.

Those attending were from Alliance, Beloit, Sebring, Lisbon, Leetonia, and East Palestine and Youngstown.

Dancing, ping-pong and cards were enjoyed. A short program was presented by students of the Cassidy dancing school as follows: Kick dance, Twila Moorehead; soft shoe, Maxine Milner and Mary Sautsch; drum dance, Elaine Greenamy and Richard Daugherty; toe dance, Wilma Bills; acrobatic dance, Twila Moorehead; song and tap, "Mama, That Moon's Here Again", Elaine Barcus.

Couple Married In West Virginia

Glenn Shreve, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Shreve of Damascus and Miss. June Workman, Alliance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Workman of Paden City, W. Va., were married today in West Virginia.

After an eastern trip they will be at home in Damascus.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. James Kirkham of Deerfield, Miss. Workman wore a dark blue ensemble with accessories to harmonize. Mr. Shreve graduated from the Goshen Township High school. He is associated with his father in the Community sale firm at Damascus.

Sorority Members Are Entertained

Omega Nu Tau sorority members were entertained recently at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Saxton Jones at Lake Placid.

The evening was spent playing "cootie". Prizes were won by Misses Winifred and Mildred Ospeck. Guests were Miss Bernice Burnette of Wilona, Misses Caroline Bush and Kathryn Courtney.

Miss Helen Papesch was associate hostess. Lunch was served.

The next meeting will be held June 6 at the home of Misses Allene and Alice Hertz, South Lincoln ave.

Temple Receives Applications

Four applications for membership were received at a meeting of Friendship temple No. 100, Pythian Sisters, last night in the hall.

Final plans were made for a meeting in Struthers June 9 when the Salem degree staff will exemplify the degree work.

Practice for the staff will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the hall.

The next regular meeting will be June 23.

Goshen Harmony Club Is Entertained

Goshen Harmony club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Charles Bogar and daughter Elsie on the Goshen rd., Thursday afternoon.

Miss Ava Bailey, Mrs. W. E. Townsend and Mrs. W. T. Sangree were guests.

The afternoon was enjoyed informally and the hostesses served lunch.

The meeting June 30 will be held at the home of Miss Mattie Walker and Mrs. Curtis Walker, Goshen rd.

Mrs. Russell Smith Circle Hostess

Circle 3 members met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Russell Smith, South Union ave.

Mrs. W. H. Matthews led the devotional service. Betta Harding's book "Farewell Tolette" was reviewed by Mrs. L. W. Matthews.

The group will convene again on June 22 at the Women's Organization meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Floding, North Ellsworth ave.

Misses Mary Campbell, Ethel Shears and Mary Burson and Frank Byerly will leave this week-end for a three weeks' trip through the west. They will visit the Grand Canyon, Los Angeles, Calif., traveling up the west coast and returning through the northwestern states.

George Tucker of New York City is visiting at the home of his sister and husband, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Smucker, South Broadway. Mrs. Smucker's nieces, Mrs. John Gallagher and Mrs. Warren Tucker of New York City, will arrive here tomorrow to spend Memorial day at the Smucker home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sheehan, formerly of Boston, who are enroute to California to make their home, visited yesterday with Miss Helen Deming, South Lincoln ave. Mr. Sheehan's parents, Dr. and Mrs. D. E. Sheehan of Los Angeles, Calif., are former well known Salem residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles James will leave Saturday from Cleveland for a boat trip to Detroit where they will spend the holiday.

Beauty Queen and a Scholar, Too

JEAN SNIDER ~ MUSKINGUM COLLEGE

NEW CONCORD — A striking combination of beauty and brains is Miss Jean Snider, Columbus, a junior at Muskingum college who recently took double honors in a single week on the college campus.

The junior class, recognizing Miss Snider's beauty, selected her as class queen to represent them in the forthcoming college yearbook. The following day the college recognized her as the outstanding scholar of her class and awarded her a medal and a scholarship for her senior year. The scholarship which will pay all of Miss Snider's tuition, is the only one of its kind given to students here.

The scholarship will come in especially handy in her case because it is necessary for her to earn much of the expense for her education. For the past three years she has done this by working as secretary to the vice president of the college.

Party Is Held By Bank Employees

Employees of the First National and Farmers National banks held a bowling match Wednesday night at the Masonic temple alleys.

After the tournament the group went to the home of Mrs. Glenn McNeelan, South Union ave., for lunch.

Will Attend Golden Wedding Party

Dames of Malta will attend the golden wedding anniversary Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Meyer in Sebring. The members will meet at 2 p. m. Sunday in the K. of P. hall to go to the Mercer home.

Class To Meet

A meeting of the Friendly class of the Baptist church will be held Tuesday evening, May 31, at the home of Helen Bowman, 473 Ohio ave.

Marriage License

A marriage license has been issued at Lisbon to Paul E. Van Pelt and Thelma Reed of Homeworth.

Gorman Candidate

COLUMBUS, May 27 — Judge Robert Gorman of the Ohio supreme court, former Hamilton county prosecutor and common pleas judge, announced today his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the court term commencing Jan. 2, 1939.

He was appointed last September to succeed the late Judge Thomas A. Jones of Jackson.

Leetonia Couple Exchange Vows At Church Altar

LEETONIA, May 27—At a lovely wedding at 8:30 a. m. Tuesday at St. Patrick's Catholic church, Miss Constance Feyock became the bride of Frances Eskay, with Rev. Fr. Lawrence Eskay, brother of the bridegroom officiating.

Miss Victoria Eskay, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and A. J. Feyock, of Hubbard, brother of the bride, was best man. Camille Schoren, of Parma, niece of the bride, was flower girl and George Duko, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

The bride was lovely in her bridal gown of white satin, with elbow length veil. She carried a white prayer book with shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Miss Eskay was lovely in her gown of peach georgette, with picture hat and blue accessories. She carried a bouquet of tea roses. The flower girl was attired in a yellow tulle frock and carried a nosegay of early spring flowers.

The ring bearer, attired in a black and white satin suit, carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

Mrs. Eskay, a graduate of Leetonia High school, is the daughter of John and the late Katherine Feyock. Mr. Eskay is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Eskay. Following the wedding, breakfast was served for members of the immediate families. Mr. and Mrs. Eskay left on a short wedding trip. Returning, they will reside on High st.

The Kiwanis club held its weekly meeting at St. Paul's Lutheran church Tuesday evening when "Guest Night" was observed. The Priscilla club served the dinner for

Pirate Queen

Huang Pa-mei, "Queen of the Pirates" who recently surrendered herself and 6,000 buccaners to the Japanese army, is pictured above at Shanghai as she offered her services and those of her men to Japan in the fight on the Chinese Nationalist government. She and all her men are Chinese.

45. Miss Catherine Carey gave a reading "Four Horsemen of Prosperity." C. A. Deeze, consulting engineer of the Republic Steel Co., Youngstown, told of his experiences in Russia and Siberia. President James A. Cozza will leave Thursday evening for several weeks visit in California.

Mrs. Carl Blattman entertained club associates at her home Wednesday afternoon. Two tables of contract bridge were in play.

Youngstown Views

Death of Mrs. Wick As Community Loss

YOUNGSTOWN, May 27.—The death in the east yesterday of Mrs. Myron C. Wick, Sr., of Youngstown was viewed here as a blow to philanthropic and civic groups who looked to Mrs. Wick for leadership. Mrs. Wick, a member of a pioneer Youngstown family which helped to make this city a steel center, died in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas E. Hardenberg at Bedford Hills, N. Y.

Mrs. Wick was the daughter of William Bonnell, one of the founders of Brown Bonnell Co., now a part of Republic Steel Corp.

Her marriage to Myron Converse Wick late in the previous century united two of the city's most prominent families. After Mr. Wick's death in 1910, she carried on philanthropies which included large annual donations to the Community Chest, $2,000 yearly to the Youngstown Hospital association and many private charities never disclosed.

Funeral services will be held at the Wick residence on Wick ave. Saturday afternoon.

Surprise

KANSAS CITY—Sally Rand, fan and bubble dancer, swept down the aisle to address University of Kansas City students. The boys and girls cheered loudly, then broke into a song, "has anyone here seen Sally?"

"I never," Miss Rand said when quiet was restored, "received such a vociferous welcome with my clothes on."

CONGRESS ASKS RELIEF ACTION

Ohio Members Call on Davey to Relieve "Serious Situation"

The senate approved unanimously yesterday appropriation of $1,000,000 to the welfare department for new mental hospitals, and the measure was looked upon as a start of Governor Davey's welfare building program. The appropriation would be matched equally by federal funds.

Welfare department plans call for an $800,000 addition to the Cleveland State hospital, $500,000 for the Massillon State hospital, $300,000 at Longview hospital, Cincinnati, and $300,000 for the Dayton institution.

To modernize facilities of the welfare department $15,000,000 would be necessary, according to the estimates of state officials.

140 Pledge Support To Proposed Bank

WELLSVILLE, May 27.—Pledges of support for a proposed new bank were made by 134 of 140 attending a mass meeting in Wellsville Wednesday night.

Mayor Howard L. Kelley was authorized to appoint a committee of 12 businessmen and other interested citizens to seek further pledges.

The committee consists of Samuel Adams, James L. MacDonald, James Wathey, T. C. McClelland, Thomas Platt, James Scott, Thomas J. Blackwood, James Pilmer, M. I. Shingler, Earl Shoub, Clarence Peters and Otto Dushman.

The pledges will be turned over to C. V. Beatty, East Liverpool building contractor, who has taken an option on the former People's National bank and fixtures with the view to re-opening it.

Last night's meeting was called by Mayor Kelley, who presided. Beatty outlined his plan to re-open the bank in the event that a sufficient number of depositors should be interested.

The city has been without a bank since the People's institution was placed in the hands of a receiver for liquidation about seven years ago.

COLLEGE FIRE

Fire Sweeps Through Findlay Institution Today; Loss Estimated At $50,000

FINDLAY, May 27.—Fire swept through the 52-year-old main building of Findlay college today causing damage estimated by Fire Chief Ray Long at $50,000. The origin was not determined immediately.

Myrl Musgrave of North Canton, a student, suffered minor injuries when the first floor collapsed while he was assisting firemen.

Homer R. Dunathan, president of the college, said the structure would be rebuilt.

College classes will resume Tuesday in the Findlay Junior High school building.

handwork classes they will be taught interesting handwork and in supervised play they will learn things that will help them to make a worthy use of the leisure time that will be theirs for the vacation season; and the promotion of the spirit of cooperation among the church people.

Boys and girls are asked to register their names, ages and addresses at their respective Sunday schools Sunday morning if they intend to be present for the school.

If there is not a registration of at least 200 at the different schools next Sunday, plans for the vacation school will be dropped. Boys and girls who do not attend Sunday school should send their names, ages and addresses to one of the cooperating churches Sunday morning if they plan to attend.

There will be a meeting of the four pastors and all teachers at 9 p. m. Wednesday at the First Baptist church. All interested in the school will be welcome.

Findings Returned In Sebring Report

SEBRING, May 27.—Twenty-six findings against members of the Sebring school system are included in a report which has been filed with the board of education following its receipt from the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices at Columbus.

Largest among the findings was one of $1,235.99 against Supt. S. H. Pollock for overpayment of salary over a three-year period ending in 1937. Findings of $407.61 were returned against J. E. Turbert because of alleged illegality of bills for legal advertising and supplies furnished the board. Also included in the list were findings against A. H. Lindsay and Mrs. Alice D. Knight, board clerks; nine teachers, other employees of the board and several concerns furnishing supplies to the schools.

The findings are part of an extensive 21-page report compiled by Ruth Kauffman, examiner for the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices.

Miss Kauffman was here last September making the biennial inspection of board of education records. Copies of her report, recently completed, were mailed to the Mahoning county auditor's office at Youngstown and to the president and clerk of the board of education. Pollock released the report for publication.

Youth Wins Verdict In Damage Action

LISBON, May 27.—Robert McDole, East Liverpool boy, won a $350 verdict in a $35,000 damage action against Ira Hassler, R. D. 1, Newton Falls, which was heard by a jury in common pleas court Thursday.

The suit, filed by Sylvia McDonauld as next friend, resulted from a traffic accident occurring April 25, 1930. According to the petition, the boy was struck by an auto operated by the defendant while crossing an East Liverpool street intersection. Brain concussion and other injuries of a permanent nature were alleged.

A verdict for the defendant was returned Thursday by a jury hearing a $5,600 damage suit filed by William Imboden, East Palestine, against Vera Poulton, R. D. Columbia.

Imboden asserted he received serious injuries in an accident occurring Sept. 24, 1936, in Columbia, and asked $600 for car damages.

"LARGEST BARN" WILL BE RAZED

Ohioan Built Huge Structure To Outdo Czar Of Russia

(By Associated Press)
XENIA — The giant barn which the late John Bryan, one-time Cincinnati millionaire, built in 1898, legend says, to outdo the then Czar of Russia will be razed soon.
Bryan, relative of the late William Jennings Bryan, willed his vast estate near Yellow Springs, together with the barn, to Ohio and it now is known as Bryan State park.

Defects In Barn
Termining the huge structure a "white elephant" to the state department of forestry, officials said it would be torn down because of defects which have developed with age.

To restore it would cost thousands of dollars, and even if it were repaired, there is no conceivable use to which it could be put, the department said.
Tradition says that Bryan built the structure after the czar announced that he had completed the largest barn in the world. Bryan's competing structure was said to have surpassed the barn of Russia's royal family and he was extremely proud of it, though it served no completely utilitarian purpose.

Actual cost of constructing the landmark is unknown but estimates have ranged from $15,000 to $25,000. All the stone for the massive foundation was quarried on the estate and the huge oak beams were cut and shaped there.

Description of Barn
Bryan's own description of the structure follows:

"Barn 208 feet long by 130 feet wide. Five floors. When finished, 60 and 90 feet will be covered with glass. Has running clean spring water at eight different faucets. That the eccentric millionaire hoped to utilize the huge barn is indicated in his description thus: "(Barn) will stable 200 cattle or 100 horses. Now contains 600 tons of alfalfa worth $20 a ton—$12,000. When farm is fully cultivated will produce over 2,000 tons a year—$40,000. Cost of building not known. Bryan was the architect and superintendent of construction of stone and woodwork. Farm contains 300 acres of farming land, 200 acres of woods, hills, cliffs and rivers."

Bryan had hoped the barn would remain as a lasting monument but department of forestry officials said the state park would be an even greater monument to the eccentric millionaire.

Land Speed Marks Will Be Attacked By Three Racers

(By United Press)

SALT LAKE CITY—Speed records—from one mile to the 7,000 miles covered in a 48-hour endurance run—will be the targets of the "Big Three" among land speed drivers this summer at the Bonneville Salt Flats.

Capt. George E. T. Eyston, 41-year-old Englishman who holds the world's measured mile land speed record of 311.42 miles an hour; Ab Jenkins, Utah's veteran endurance racer and holder of many world records; and John Cobb, of England, who two years ago created several speed records only to see them topped by Eyston or Jenkins have signified their intention of competing against time and the records again this year on the dazzling white expanse of salt 120 miles west of here.

Particularly keen this year will be the competition for the one-mile record.

Jenkins, the "Utah Meteor" and king of endurance race drivers, is putting the finishing touches on his "1938 special" in preparation for a new onslaught on the one-mile speed record.

MEN TRY DRINK ON SMOGGY DAY

Pittsburgh Residents
Seek Solution to Smoke
Problems

PITTSBURGH — Pittsburgh's smoke is driving men to drink. The men said so.

This was only one of the interesting replies produced by a recent air pollution survey in which Pittsburghers were asked what effect, if any, the city's smoky atmosphere had on their health.

One man, who blamed air pollution for his asthma, stated: "I take gin when my sinus hurts, which is two or three times a week." Other sufferers wrote in the questionnaire that they drank on an average of "four ounces daily" to combat the smog—Pittsburgh's name for its characteristic combination of smoke and river fog.

The survey, the first of its kind in an American city, was conducted by the Pittsburgh health department and science institutions. Voluntary questionnaires were distributed throughout the city by milkmen.

A government official who has lived in many parts of the world took the opportunity to declare that "Pittsburgh's smog is worse than London's."

A housewife wrote that after her husband suddenly lost his hearing in one ear on a foggy day, doctors attributed his ailment to the air conditions.

Another woman who said "the smog comes down like snowflakes" blamed the dirty air for extra cleaning bills and housecleaning difficulties.

Still another Pittsburgher complained: "Dark, smoggy days affect more than anything else, my general attitude, causing depression."

Thaw in Court

Thaw with attorney

Harry K. Thaw, former millionaire playboy who was the central figure in a sensational trial in 1906 when he was acquitted of the murder of Stanford White, is in court again, this time as defendant in a $10,000 suit brought by Alienist S. E. Jelliffe, who claims he was never paid for expert testimony given 32 years ago which convinced the jury Thaw was insane at time of the shooting.

The suit, inefficiency and general lassitude.

Almost everybody who answered the questionnaire on Pittsburgh's traditional smoke agreed that something should be done about it.

Labor Federation Chief Is Censured By Mine Workers

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The United Mine Workers, keystone of the John L. Lewis' formation of the CIO, has sent out in a caustically worded resolution its censure of President William Green of the AFL for his opposition to industrial unionism.

The international executive board of the UMW adopted the resolution in accepting Green's resignation as a member of the union.

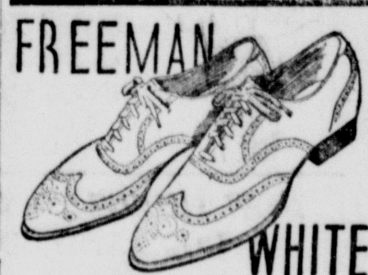

Green, a member of a Coshocton, Ohio, UMW local for 40 years, resigned from the mine workers Feb. 2. The AFL already had suspended the UMW as a "rebel" union for its part in founding the CIO in 1935, and since then has expelled it.

The miner workers' resolution, described by the board as an account of Green's "perfidy," made a 14-point criticism of the federation chief, terming him "guilty of apostasy" and asserting he "betrayed" the UMW by fostering the Progressive Miners of Illinois as a rival union in the coal fields.

The board said he "encouraged factional opposition" to labor candidates in political contests, citing in particular the recent Pennsylvania primary election.

DOLGEVILLE, N. Y.—A mouse with an ear for music has been discovered in Dolgeville high school. During a practice session of violin class, the mouse appeared, cocked its head on one side as it listened to several selections, and then scampered away.

CONVICT SLOT MACHINE KING

Mahoning County Jurors
Declare John Anthou-

thouls, but you could have been in Bellaire, taking lessons toward your citizenship papers and still be guilty. You directed this whole thing.

Turning to the jury the prosecutor pleaded: "Don't show this man any more mercy than he showed Happy Marino when Marino was filled full of bullets and dumped out in the muck to die like a dog."

Defense attorneys sought to discredit entirely the testimony of the state's star witness, Edward Heger, former slot machine repair man for Anthouls, who linked Anthouls with an alleged conspiracy to "get" Marino.

They also declared the state had failed to show any motive for Marino's death which would link the killing with Anthouls, or with Solly Hart or Herbert Ross, Cleveland underworld characters, who are in county jail awaiting trial on first-degree murder charges.

Favor Invitation For Organic Union

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A. accepted today the invitation of the Protestant Episcopal church to "achieve organic union between our respective churches."

The assembly adopted a resolution declaring "its earnest and prayerful purpose to co-operate with the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U. S. A. in the study and formation of such plans as may make possible the union contemplated."

The invitation was extended to the Presbyterians by the Rev. James Dewolf Perry, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church, on action taken at the latter church's general convention at Cincinnati in October, 1937.

Propaganda Probe Will Start Soon

WASHINGTON, May 27.—A broad investigation of un-American propaganda in the United States will begin as soon as Speaker Bankhead selects a seven-member committee of house members for the task.

The house shouted its approval of the inquiry yesterday in adopting a resolution by Representative Dies (D-Tex.), although criticism and derision came from some representatives.

The resolution did not specify the groups to be investigated. Dies, however, spoke of "shocking" information about the Nazi movement in proposing the investigation and others mentioned Fascists and Communists.

Winners In Lodge Contest Are Feted

Amity lodge members enjoyed a dinner in Odd Fellows hall last night when Lowell Brown's winning team in a recent attendance contest was entertained by the losers headed by Rolland Paxson.

Daughters of Rebekah lodge served the dinner to 50 Amity lodge members. The tables and the dining hall were decorated with spring flowers.

Remarks were heard from various members after the supper and the regular meeting of the lodge followed. The second degree was conferred upon one candidate during the session.

Americans Pouring Money Into Spain

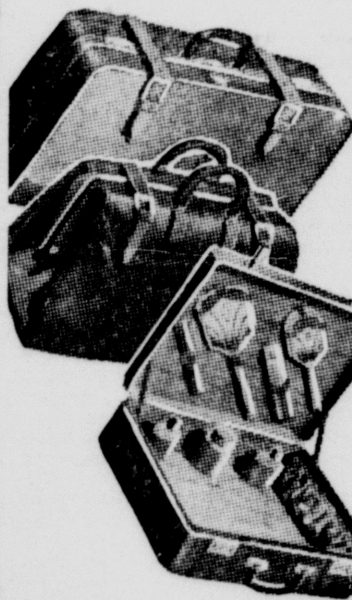

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Americans have contributed nearly $1,200,000 for relief in war-torn Spain in the last year, the state department announced today. Most of the donations went to the loyalist side.

Of the funds reported by 30 organizations, $868,301 was actually expended for relief and $254,501 went for administration, publicity, campaigns, etc.

State department figures showed that some organizations spent as much for publicity and administration as they collected.

Abandoned Canal Will Be Made Into State Fishing Spot

COLUMBUS, May 27.—A project to transform ten miles of abandoned canal north of Massillon into a public fishing stream received the "go ahead" signal today from the state conservation council.

Conservation Commissioner Lawrence Woodruff said work would be started as soon as possible on the construction of dams to provide a stream approximately 100 feet wide and from six to eight feet deep. Boating will be prohibited.

The council appropriated $25,000 to construct the dams and Woodruff said informal approval already had been given by the Works Progress Administration for a $55,000 labor allocation.

Each bank will have 25-foot landscaping and automobile parking places along its length. The project will parallel U. S. route 21. Permits for spearing gar, carp and other "undesirable" fish will be withdrawn, the council decided, because of excessive demand. No permits will be issued in the near future.

Announcement was made of a meeting of Ohio sportsmen in Columbus June 21, a day in advance of the council's session to determine its policy for the year.

DEATHS

WILMER ALLMON

Wilmer Allmon, 21, of New Waterford, died of complications at 2:30 a. m. today in Salem City hospital. He was admitted to the hospital eight days ago for surgical treatment.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Allmon, he was born in Fairfield township June 24, 1916. He was a member of the East Fairfield M. E. church.

He leaves his parents, two sisters, Eleanor and Dorothy at home and one brother Herbert at home; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Birch of Columbiana.

Funeral service will be conducted at 3 p. m. Sunday at the East Fairfield M. E. church in charge of Rev. H. W. Middleton. Burial will be in the East Fairfield cemetery.

The body will be removed tomorrow morning from the Warrick funeral home to the family residence.

Homeworth Pupils At Annual Outing

HOMEWORTH, May 27.—Pupils of Homeworth school, joining with other buildings in the Western Rural school district enjoyed their annual picnic Thursday at Idora park in Youngstown.

S. H. Pollock, superintendent of Febring schools, gave the commencement address Wednesday at exercises held for eighth grade graduates in the Presbyterian church. The program was preceded by a banquet in the church basement.

Supt. Pollock spoke on the theme, "Don't Stand in Your Own Way." Jane Stewart played a piano solo and Martha Palmer gave a reading. Rev. S. W. Seeman, pastor of the Homeworth Evangelical church, offered the invocation while Rev. D. De Veny, pastor of the Presbyterian church pronounced the benediction.

R. R. Barber, president of the board of education, presented the graduation certificates to the students. Members of the class are Dwight Freshley, Dale Thomas, Russell Stroup, Gilbert Beamer, Robert Kibler, Charles Parks, Martha Kilmer, Kenneth Scott, June Stewart and Ellen Stofier.

Order Vice Squad To Stamp Out 'Bug'

YOUNGSTOWN, May 27.—Augmented by four new members, the city's vice squad yesterday is under orders of Mayor Lionel Evans to stamp out the "bug" racket here.

The four new members, Steve Lubanovic, Clyde Reed, Joseph Hosa, and Jacob Homm, reported to Detective Chief William W. Reed. They bring to 10 the number of plain clothesmen assigned to vice. Chief Reed said the four additional men were given orders to check vice and to make arrests.

"I think these men will be sufficient," said Chief Reed.

Confesses Slaying

TOLEDO, May 27.—Isaac Bloom, 53, was held on first degree murder charges today following his confession, announced by Deputy Sheriff Don Cochran, that he killed his wife, May, 50, last July by pushing her down a stairway into a pool of water at the end of an all-night quarrel in their home near Whitewater. O. Bloom pleaded innocent when arraigned last night.

State's Approval Is Given to Stark School Proposals

ALLIANCE, May 27.—The state department of education has given approval to $340,000 worth of school construction work suggested for PWA projects in the east end of Stark county, Superintendent E. D. Maurice said Thursday.

The largest project would be a $220,000 elementary and high school building in Washington township. Another would be a $120,000 elementary building on a site adjoining Marietta Township High school.

Maurice said that he also filed an application for approval by the state department of a $150,000 building at Fairmount Children's home. The east end work already approved by the department is part of a $640,000 program for the county.

The county school head explained that approval of the state department is the first step required to get a PWA project. Approval of PWA would still be required. Projects of this nature call for a 55 per cent local contribution with PWA furnishing 45 per cent of the cost.

Pastor Is Honored At Church Meeting

SALEM POLOISTS OPEN LEAGUE SEASON SUNDAY

VETERANS OPEN SECOND ROUND WITH VICTORY

Old Timers Beat Trades Class; Mullins - Ohio Edison Tie, 5-5

Softball fans were offered plenty of action at Centennial park last night as the Class A league started its second round schedule with two hotly contested games.

The first round champion Old Timers, winner of the league championship last year, got off on the foot in one of the two opening second round tilts, spanking the Trades Class, 6 to 3.

The other engagement in the center circuit between the Ohio Edison and Mullins turned out to be a battle of endurance with the action stretching over 10 innings before darkness called a halt to the game with the score deadlocked at 5 to 5.

The Old Timers pushed over three runs in the third frame, two in the fourth and one in the fifth to conquer the Tradesmen. The vets collected eight hits from the offerings of pitcher Bill Miller of the Trades.

One run in the second frame and additional markers in the sixth and seventh frames constituted the Trades Class' victory. The Tradesmen held the lead for one inning on the strength of the one run they scored in the second frame.

A home run by Lynn Bailey with two men on base enabled the Ohio Edison to tie the score and force a contest with Mullins into extra innings. Bailey hammered out his first blow in the last half of the seventh frame when the O. E. nine was behind, 5 to 3.

Mullins held the lead in the contest until the last of the seventh inning when they scored in the first and second innings and two marks in the third frame.

The Ohio Edison tallied one run each in the third and fourth frames and came up with three markers in the seventh to tie the score. Neither team tallied in the extra frames.

Fitzpatrick worked the full windings on the mound for Mullins and turned in a fine performance holding the Ohio Edison to seven hits. Ward was on the mound for the Edisonites, allowing 12 hits.

Breezy Briefs
Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK, May 27.—Oh, Ohio like the jinx may be haunting Barney Ross again. Last night one of his New York fights was postponed and it was an 11-1 setback. Mike Jacobs was the only one to see the place who refused to get excited. He remembers when he took Ross to Miami to fight Frankie Kliek and it snowed the night of the battle.

Suppose you've noticed Lou Gehrig has worked himself into clean-up position for tonight's game at Phipps Park. Joe Louis pitched last night and will begin training for Saturday. Branch Rickey may put in a bid for Van Mungo (again reported dissatisfied) before he leaves these regions.

John Henry Lewis vs Tony Galento in one of the ball parks here will be announced any day now. War Admiral is expected to get a starting assignment for the first time in a month when the Cubs return home next week.

It's a shame some major league club doesn't rescue such a capable pitcher and fine fellow as Virgil Mays from the Cincinnati bench and give him a chance to work regularly. Every now and then the old timers pop in at the ball parks. Latest visitors included King Lear, the old second baseman, Jack Doscher, pitcher, and Jerry (Moose) McCormick, one of the game's greatest pinch hitters, of whom were with the Giants when McGraw.

OHIO COLLEGE ATHLETES VIE

Track Stars Compete In Annual Conference Competition

CLEVELAND, May 27.—Some 200 athletes went through qualifying events today in the annual Ohio conference track meet at their faculty representatives were deciding how they would vote tonight on two proposed rule changes—one of which would permit competition between conference freshman teams.

A field of some 200 athletes represented 17 of the league's 20 active schools in seven qualifying events as Oberlin's Yeomen strove to defend their championship.

The main threat to Oberlin in the two-day meet was expected from Wooster and Bowling Green. Finals in all events at suburban Berea are tomorrow.

In addition to a proposal for competition between freshmen, the management committee drafted for tonight's meeting a suggestion to permit open and above board contacting of prospective athletes.

ATHENS, May 27.—If any school has an idea how to prevent Miami University from capturing its ninth Buckeye conference track title since 1926 the information is a dark secret.

The Redskins headed here today with an impressive record of dual wins over Ohio Wesleyan, Dayton and Ohio universities, three of their four opponents in the annual classic Saturday.

Conference coaches were to engage in their annual golf tournament today and at an executive session tonight they were expected to install Xavier university of Cincinnati and Western State teachers college of Kalamazoo, Mich., as probationary members.

High School Teams Begin Battle For Championships

Canton McKinley, Sandusky and Upper Arlington Defend Titles In State Meets

By JOHN H. COLBURN
COLUMBUS, May 27.—It was Canton McKinley, Sandusky and Upper Arlington against the rest of the state today in Ohio's annual scholastic sports round-up.

Those schools presented a determined front in their effort to defend three of the eight championships which went on the block before 1,100 sterling athletes.

Of the three, Upper Arlington was given the best chance to retain the laurels it won a year ago—the Class B track and field championship.

Four schools, Toledo Scott, Cleveland Shaw and Central, and Dayton Fairview loomed as dangerous threats to relieve Sandusky of its Class A track leadership.

Canton McKinley was accorded a "50-50" chance of returning home with its second successive Class A baseball title.

The undefended championships at stake were: Class B baseball, singles and doubles tennis, and team and individual golf.

Two Salem High school athletes—Max Lutsch and Cliff Lowry—will compete in the state scholastic track and field meet at Columbus tomorrow.

Lutsch will represent the Quakers in the high jump while Lowry is entered in the pole vault. The Salem athletes qualified for the state meet by placing among the leaders in the district meet here last Saturday.

Sixteen baseball teams launched the intensive two-day sports program and here's how they stacked up in the opening round:

Class A: Akron Kenmore-Cleveland Collinwood; Cincinnati Hughes-St. Clairsville; Canton McKinley-Columbus North; Logan-Toledo Waite.

Class B: North College Hill-Springfield Pitches; Leavittsburg-Sherrodsville; Racine-Sugar Grove; Pemberville-Coldwater.

Second round baseball games were to be played this afternoon, leaving the finals for Saturday afternoon.

Preliminaries in six track events will be run off starting at 3 p. m. today.

Finals are carded to start Saturday morning.

Upper Arlington's well-balanced track team annexed Class B honors by only half a point in 1937 from Glendale's two-man contingent, but Glendale lost one of its famed Saunders brothers and Columbiana and Oak Harbor appear likely to furnish some of the most formidable competition this weekend.

Columbiana finished fourth last year.

CHARLEY YATES SURVIVES TEST

American Golfer Defeats British Ace In Amateur Tourney

TROON, Scotland, May 27.—Charley Yates of Atlanta, last American survivor, today reached the semi-final round of the British amateur golf championship as he eliminated Cyril Tolley, two-time former champion, 3 and 2.

Firing a brilliant 33, three under par, at the veteran Englishman in the first nine, Yates rounded the turn three up. He lost one hole of his advantage at the twelfth, where he caught the rough with his second, but holed another great money putt, a 9-footer, for a winning deuce at the 14th to go back to three up, and finished off his man two holes later.

On the second hole the U. S. Walker cupper fired as fine a shot as the tournament has seen to go into a lead he never relinquished. Outdriven 50 yards by Tolley, who won the title in 1920 and again in 1929, Charley smacked a full mashie shot right into the cup for an eagle 2.

He finished the first nine with two birdies, playing the par 5 ninth safe after getting home in two, only eight feet away.

Though Tolley, after Yates' birdie at No. 14, stood ready and played the next two in perfect pars, Charley never faltered and matched him shot for shot.

Yates was preceded into the semi-finals by Canada's pride, C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London, Ont. Sandy, one down to H. W. Hattersley of Australia with three to go, played those last three holes in one under par to win by two up.

year and Oak Harbor ended up with only one point.

H. R. Townsend, High school athletic commissioner, scanning records made in district meets, declared that if good weather prevailed Saturday it would be a record-breaking day.

RUFFING STILL WINNING, RATES AS YANKS' BEST

Bargain-Counter Pitcher One of Ruppert's Best Buys

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
What with all those fancy price tags sprinkled through the roster of the New York Yankees, the big dividends being paid annually by the bargain counter pick-up—Rufus the Red Ruffing—must warm the cockles of Col. Jake Ruppert's bankroll.

For years, Col. Jake has turned a goodly portion of his brewery profits into the purchase of the salaries for high-priced ivory.

But big Rufus the Red and his right arm came to Yankee stadium in a player exchange for one Cedric M. Durst. Now Cedric was down in the lineup as an outfielder—when he got in the lineup. The baseball "who's who" never bothered to list him. So you can see that Col. Jake didn't exactly mortgage the family jewels in the deal.

Yet, Rufus the Red has proved one of his most profitable pieces of business. You'd have to go a long way to find a better right-hand pitcher in baseball today.

In seven years with the Yanks, he has had just one poor season. All told, his seven-year New York record shows 118 victories and 76 losses, for a neat, if not gaudy, .608 percentage.

So far this year, he has been the brightest spot in what hasn't been an altogether sunny start for Gehrig and company's campaign for a third pennant. In 50 innings, he has allowed an average of 2.5 runs per game—and not all of them were earned, either. He won four of his first five starts, and then gave way to the "flu." Yesterday he finally got back from the hospital list, took a look at the Yanks' three game losing streak, and in his first appearance in 17 days, proceeded to pitch them right back into the money.

Facing the dangerous Detroit Tigers, he hurled a seven-hitter, fanned ten and allowed just three runners to get as far as third base as he posted a 5-1 victory. That win gave the Yanks a 500 mark for their road trip, the best record turned in by any of the eastern clubs on the western swing.

The Yankees victory, coupled with the Boston Red Sox's 8-4 triumph over the Cleveland Indians, also sliced a considerable margin off the Tribe's American league lead. The Sox came back in the last three innings with seven runs, one of them Jimmy Fox's tenth homer, to back up Jackie Wilson's five-hit flinging and take the decision. This left the Tribe with only a two-game margin over Tom Yawkey's lads and three over the Yanks.

Riding a three-home run barrage the Senators took a wild 12-10 game from the St. Louis Browns. Taft Wright's round-tripper with the bases loaded was the payoff wallop.

The Athletics, given a neat nine-hit pitching effort by George Caster, topped the White Sox, 4-1, in the only other game on the day's program.

The entire National league schedule was rained out.

Pennsylvania Polo Squad To Appear Sunday, Monday In Games At Salem Field

Pittsburgh Wexford Riders To Face Salem Polo Club In Opening Games In Penn-Ohio League; Mayor Harroff To Start Sunday Contest

Opening their 1938 season in the recently-organized Penn-Ohio Polo association, the Salem Polo club will meet the highly-regarded Pittsburgh Wexford quartet in games Sunday and Monday at the Salem field on the Ellsworth rd., just outside of the city limits.

Mayor George R. Harroff, who is one of the city's leading polo fans and a strong supporter of the Salem club, will throw in the first ball in the Sunday game. The throw-in for both Sunday and Monday games is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

The Wexford club will bring four of Pittsburgh's leading poloists to the local field for the games. Foster will be at the No. 1 position for the Pennsylvanians, Shaggett at No. 2, Wright at No. 3 and Evans at back.

Wright is regarded as one of western Pennsylvanians outstanding players and is considered the most dangerous offensive threat. His exceptional accuracy with the long-shafted mallet made him one of the leading scorers in the Pittsburgh district last year. Foster and Evans are also rated high as players.

The Salem club will take the field for both games with Raymond Moff at No. 1, James Pidgeon, Jr., at No. 2, Anthony Sheen at No. 3 and Brooke Votaw at back.

Pidgeon and Votaw, who have seen five years of service at polo, are slated to lead the offensive attack for the local quartet. Pidgeon was the leading scorer for the Salem team last year, while Votaw, in addition to being a consistent scorer, was also the most reliable defensive player on the 1937 team.

Sheen will be making his first appearance in the Salem lineup since he left the team in the latter part of the 1936 season to join up with Alliance.

The Sunday game will mark the debut of both clubs in the Penn-Ohio league, which was organized last month as the outgrowth of considerable polo interest in northeastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. Four other clubs, two from Ohio and two from Pennsylvania, are also affiliated with the league.

In other league games Sunday and Monday, North Hills of Pittsburgh will meet Old Furnace of Zelenople, Pa., at Zelenople and the Bar-K Cowboys of Akron will face Battery C, of Alliance at Alliance.

The league originally planned to open its 1938 season last Sunday, but rain forced postponement of all games. Salem was scheduled to play at Alliance.

Jack Hendricks will referee the local games, while announcing over the public address system will be handled by Jim Wingard.

LITTLE PLACES 278 GUESS FOR NATIONAL OPEN

Other Experts, However,
Argue Best Score
Will Be Higher

DENVER, May 27.—Lawson Little says it will take a 278 or better to win the National Open golf tournament here next month.

Immediately, a number of persons who don't like to think such thoughts voiced their opinions that no record-breaking score like 278 is going to be turned in.

In the first place, Little, who carded 139 for 36 holes in 1933 over the watery, trappy Cherry Hills layout, isn't going to find many of those tees where they were five years ago. They've been moved back and sideways with a great deal of effectiveness and with no thought of benevolence to the shotmakers.

In addition, as a sun-burned grapefruit-circuit caddy quite succinctly put it, "those dime-sized greens are going to be harder to hit than a coal miner on a dark night."

Expert Offers Opinion
Harold Long, Cherry Hills professional who holds the course record with a 65, had this to say about Little's pronouncement:

"If every shot is a long, straight fairway ball, somebody is going to tear this course to pieces—as he would any course."

However, when the heat is turned on for the big money stake and a hundred or so players are breathing right on your neck," he said, "some of those shots aren't going to be so true. And you can get in more trouble with a miscue out here than any place I know about."

Hole by hole, Long described the 15-year-old socially exclusive golf park:

No. 1—352 yards, par 4. An easy par for down-the-middle hitters. Danger lies in a brook paralleling the entire right fairway, and the other side flanked by heavy rough and large trees.

No. 2—400 yards, par 4. Green well guarded by a lake on left side and foreditch flanked by two sand-traps.

No. 3—354 yards, par 4. At least 250-yard fairway-wide trap. Two traps about 20 yards in front of green.

No. 4—418 yards, par 4. Heavy timber in the shoulder of a left dog-leg commanding accuracy off the tee. Bunkers and three traps protect the green.

No. 5—635 yards, par 5. A daisy for the long hitters. Fortified, however, by an immense trap and brook mid-way. Green sits 15 feet above frontside sandtrap.

No. 6—164 yards, par 3. Almost impenetrable green guarded by bunkers and traps, leaving 15-foot lane through the front, and timber behind. A tough one for the wild shooters.

No. 7—395 yards, par 4. Almost a right-angle dog-leg to the left with plenty of badlands en route. Small green with trap and creek fortifications.

No. 8—225 yards, par 3. Requires best of control to negotiate trap bordering front of the green. Some solve problem by over-driving.

No. 9—426 yards, par 4. Uphill all the way over the fairway drifting sharply to the right—and wilderness.

No. 10—441 yards, par 4. Another favorite of the heavy hitters. Tee on high bluff affording opportunity for a long ball. Small, narrow green.

No. 11—530 yards, par 5. Fairway far out from tee and narrowed by course boundary, making straight, long ball essential.

Tricky Water Hazard
No. 12—215 yards, par 3. An all-water carry to green atop 10-foot bank. The cautious push to the left; can be over-driven with safety.

No. 13—385 yards, par 4. Demands carry in excess of 200 yards to clear shallow ditch. Pin-sized green on a side-hill.

No. 14—470 yards, par 4. Considered the best test of golf on entire course. Boundary to the right and inaccessible rough on left of narrow, tape-like fairway.

No. 15—160 yards, par 3. Good short-iron men get a breathing spell here. No fairway at all and tiny green surrounded by creek and trap.

No. 16—397 yards, par 4. Dog-leg to the right and a long ball means a tussle with a creek. Nice birdie if accurately spotted.

No. 17—343 yards, par 5. The heartbreaker of the layout. Seven sandtraps viciously located. Hole topped off by postage stamp island green. Accuracy and caution imperative.

No. 18—485 yards, par 4. Entire fairway slides abruptly toward lake shore, making tee shot hazardous.

Long said he had no fear of the safety of Ralph Guldahl's record of 281 set last year.

COACH CERTAIN OF 15 FT. SOON IN POLE VAULT

Cromwell of U. S. C. Says
Two Proteges Can't
Miss In Year

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—Dean Cromwell, dapper veteran who has developed more world pole vaulting champions than any coach in history, predicts his two newest recruits will crack the once unattainable ceiling of 15 feet within a year.

"The boys may not be ready just yet," the University of Southern California mentor said confidently, "but they've both got another year to do it. At least one of them can't miss."

Cromwell's prediction is significant in two regards—the fabulous height and the complete about-face with which coaches now greet husky boys who want to become vaulters. The youths in question are Loring Day, a junior who has topped 14 feet, 7 inches, a height attained by only half a dozen men in the world; and Ken Dills, who has cleared 14 feet, 3 inches.

Both are big, long-armed and first-class examples of the modern school of vaulting.

The original theory was that only a small man could lift himself to the abnormal heights required by the vault. Lee Barnes, Cromwell's first great vaulter, was considered the perfect athlete for his event. He weighed only 145 pounds, and was only 5 feet, 8 1/2 inches tall. He established a world mark of 14 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

Several years later along came Bill Graber, who promptly raised the record to 14 feet, 4 3/4 inches. Graber was a big fellow—175 pounds, and 6 feet, 2 inches—and he revised Cromwell's coaching ideas.

After Graber, Cromwell began looking for large youths—with long arms. He uncovered Earle Mead, who stood more than 6 feet tall, and weighed 175 pounds; and Bill Sefton, who was 6 feet, 2 inches tall, and tipped the scale at 180.

Meadows won the 1936 Olympic championship, and with Sefton vaulted to the present world record of 14 feet, 11 inches.

Day and Dills are of the same general build. Both weigh 170 pounds. Day stands 6 feet high and Dills is 2 inches taller. Both have thickly muscled shoulders and work out daily on cross bars and rings to develop their lifting power.

Cromwell contends Day is the potentially greatest vaulter he has seen, and he has seen all the great men of the past 15 years. The tow-headed youth raised his own record from 14 feet to 14 feet, 7 inches on a single afternoon—and what is important, did it in competition.

"Both of these boys are serious boys from attaining their goal, not when they have so much natural ability. They both intend to establish a new record, and the fact that the new record will have to be 15 feet doesn't frighten them a bit."

FAIRPORT—Peter Ores, 17 months old, speaks three languages—English, Hungarian and Slavonic. His one grandmother is teaching him her native language, Hungarian, and his other grandmother is teaching him Slavonic, her native tongue.

CLINTON, Okla.—M. D. May, 23-year-old farmer-filling station operator, traps coyotes for the fun of it, but he has netted more than $50 from his catch of the last two months. May lives five miles north of Arapahoe and has been trapping coyotes for six years.

Sam Snead, 26 Today, Hopes To Take Inverness Honors

West Virginia Golf Star Out To Celebrate His Birthday by Taking Lead In Tourney

By FRITZ HOWELL

TOLEDO, May 27.—"Slammin' Sam" Snead, who climbed out of the West Virginia hills about a year ago to give the greatest freshman exhibition in American golf history, was 26 years old today, and he planned to "do a bit of celebrating" in the second round of the fourth annual $4,600 Inverness four-ball matches.

Snead and his curly-haired partner, Vic Ghezzi, were six points off the pace, but the West Virginian hoped he'd "get hot" on his anniversary and be at or near the peak when today's "birdie barrage" ended.

Ky Laffoon and Ed Dudley led the pack of 16 top notch professionals into the second round as the result of a 63, eight under par, fired yesterday. Lawson Little, the former U. S. and British amateur king, and Jimmy Demaret of Texas were unlucky enough to catch the Chicago Cherokee and the American Ryder cup captain as first round opponents, and they finished six down.

In second place were Willie Goggin and Frank Walsh, who shot a best-ball 65 to finish five up on Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta, winners of the inaugural tourney here three years ago. The defending champions, "Lighthorse Harry" Cooper and Horton Smith, registered a 66 in taking a three-up edge over Dick Metz and Gene Sarazen, while Ghezzi and Snead rapped out a 65 to finish even with long-driving Jimmy Thomson and the veteran Tommy Armour.

Pairings for today's rounds: Morning: Smith-Cooper vs Little-Demaret; Dudley-Laffoon vs Thomson-Armour; Ghezzi-Snead vs Picard-Revolta; Goggin-Walsh vs Metz-Sarazen.

Afternoon round: Smith-Cooper vs Thomson-Armour; Dudley-Laffoon vs Picard-Revolta; Ghezzi-Snead vs Goggin-Walsh; Little-Demaret vs Metz-Sarazen.

Ross-Armstrong Battle Tonight

NEW YORK, May 27.—Providing the rain stops sluicing down, Barney Ross and Henry Armstrong will keep their postponed 15-round engagement for Barney's welterweight title tonight at Madison Square Garden bowl.

Promoter Mike Jacobs was forced to declare a 24-hour truce late yesterday.

But, barring a cloudburst, Mike will get them in the ring this time, for Mike is anxious to get down to the main business of selling tickets for the big blowout between Max Schmeling and Joe Louis next month.

The two fighters were ordered by General John J. Phelan to appear before the boxing commission again at high noon today.

There was no prospect, however, of any difficulty over the weights. As was stipulated in the articles for the unusual affair, Armstrong by eating a heavy breakfast managed to scale just over 136 pounds at yesterday's ceremonies, against Ross' 141 1/2. Even if he failed to weigh that much today, he undoubtedly had fulfilled his contract.

NEW MARLBORO, Mass.—Sunshine, a mare owned by John Bigford, has celebrated her 35th birthday by taking a leisurely trip to nearby Mill River Village, her birthplace, where a huge birthday cake was waiting for her.

Roumanian Treason Trial Is Big Event For Europe

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

NEW YORK, May 26.—If the thunder over Czechoslovakia weren't so distracting, it would be easier to recognize an event of world importance in the treason trial of Corneliu Codreanu, that hypnotic personality known as the "Hitler of Roumania."

This colorful organizer and leader, who is an exponent of direct action, is charged with plotting to overthrow his government and establish the Nazi brand of Fascism. But the verdict will be bigger than Codreanu, or even Roumania. The political complexion of central and eastern Europe—maybe all Europe—is involved.

The vital issue is whether Roumania is heading into the Nazi-Fascist corral. Adherence of Roumania to the Hitler faith would give great impetus to the Nazi dictator's program for expansion and extension of power.

Irrespective of the specific charges against Codreanu in the trial, this youthful "Fuhrer" as he has described himself in imitation of Hitler, is an avowed follower of Nazism and long has been seeking power.

Whether Codreanu has any direct connection with Germans doesn't matter. He draws his inspiration from Nazidom.

Naturally, he is anti-Communist and anti-Semitic. Indeed, as a mere youth he shot and killed the police prefect of Jassy for using great severity in suppressing anti-Jewish student riots, though a jury acquitted him.

Should Roumania go Nazi, this would give Hitler another out-and-out supporter, and a powerful one. It would help him extend his control through Czechoslovakia and the Balkans, and would be invaluable aid in event he should decide to make the conquest of the Russian Ukraine which many Germans long have expected.

Hard pressed Czechoslovakia would lose the only real friend she has among the nations touching her borders. That would complete the economic squeeze which Germany is putting on her. The little, enterprising Czechoslovakia, Roumania, and Yugoslavia—would be irrevocably smashed, removing an anti-German, pro-French combination which has been a thorn in the side of Germany.

PAINESVILLE, O.—Harvey Poulson, farmer of Perry, O., kept 20 fires burning in his vineyard to prevent frost from destroying his grape crop, but his neighbors, who took no such precaution, had their crops ruined.

"Love I Dare Not" by ALLENE CORLISS

CHAPTER XXVIII

In that moment of letting her go, Alec felt he would never be quite a young man again. Some part of his youth seemed to go out of him as a wild tumultuousness quieted, a blinding light dimmed, a swelling chord of music was forever stilled.

He had asked for so much more than she could give; his need had been so much more urgent than her capacity to assuage it; he had hoped for fire and flame and she had offered him the gentle warmth of a candle flame.

His voice stumbled with tortured uncertainty. "Come away with me, Caroline. It isn't what I wanted, it isn't the way I planned it. I have a London opening next month and I should be there. Marry me, darling, and let me take you with me. I'll get sailings tomorrow for the end of the week."

She stared at him, one hand flung across the lips he had so very recently kissed. She tried to think clearly. But she was so tired. So confused. She had wanted to give Alec everything in that minute before he kissed her. But beneath the violence and necessity of his kiss, her lips had refused to come alive. She sensed dimly that she had failed him irreparably. . . not once, but twice, in the same twenty-four hours. Somehow, she had to make it up to him.

"I don't know, Alec. I'm so tired. I can't think that far ahead. We'll talk about it tomorrow. . . I mean, later today, after we've both had some sleep. If you still think it's best, I'll do whatever you say."

Alec said, his voice only faintly bitter. "But I don't want to take you that way, Caroline. I don't want you to marry me because I think it best for you but because you want to."

Her eyes, meeting his swiftly, were more darkly distressed than before. "I didn't mean it to sound like that, Alec. It's just that I'm so terribly tired."

"I know." He was at once overwhelmingly contrite. "And I'm a brute to keep you talking like this. . . to even think of making love to you. Good-night, darling, have a hot bath and try to get some sleep. We'll talk it all out sensibly tomorrow."

He went then, turning once in the doorway to look back at her. She stood where he had left her, pressed back against the window frame. He couldn't see her face clearly. . . only the outline of her slim figure and that bright cloud of hair. . . and he knew she was crying softly. But not for love.

At the end of the week The Apple Orchard closed, and Alec went to London. But Caroline did not go with him. She went into rehearsal for a new Sam Bernstein production instead. When Sam came to them and offered her the second woman lead, saying brusquely, "Just because she failed in a part that was utterly unsuited to her present experience and ability doesn't prove she can't act," they both agreed that she should stay in New York and take the part.

So, the second week in November, she found herself saying good-by to Alec on a boat, that was to sail at midnight.

In the few minutes they had alone together before the cabin was crowded with reporters and camera men, he said to her, "Be happy, sweet, and miss me a little, but not too much, and work very hard. In the end that will make the time go faster than anything."

He had been deliberately gay with her ever since that night a week ago in the apartment on Tenth Street. If he felt anything at the moment it was that he was very tired and that it was probably a good thing they were going to be away from each other for a short time. His senses had betrayed him badly that night, and he wanted a little time to get control of himself and the situation. He was, he knew, as much in love with her as ever. . . but some urgency that had flamed up that night, to burn brightly for the length of half a kiss, had gone out, leaving him for the moment, a little numb, a little washed-up emotionally.

As for Caroline, she was definitely relieved that things had worked out the way they had. She would.

she told herself, surely have married him and gone with him had it seemed wise. But it hadn't seemed wise, and so she was glad to be staying in New York with a chance to make good in this new play. She would miss him, of course. . . but not so much as she would have missed the chance of redeeming herself in this new part had she gone with him.

So she kissed him good-bye now, feeling intolerably lonely as she did so, but knowing that presently, by tomorrow or the next day, she would have adjusted herself to his absence.

And then the reporters were upon them and a camera man was asking Alec if they would pose for one picture together.

Alec said, "Why not?" and smiled at her, and Tommy Gale was standing in the doorway.

"Have you anything to say about The Apple Orchard, Mr. Graham, and what will your next play be about?" a reporter asked.

"The Apple Orchard ceased to be news when it closed yesterday, and my next play will probably be about the same thing that all my others have been about."

"And what is that?" asked half a dozen voices eagerly.

"Love," answered Alec, his voice only faintly cynical.

"Speaking of love," said a young man from one of the tabloids, "have you any other announcements to make? I mean of a more personal nature?" His eyes were boldly and significantly to Caroline.

"Yes, Mr. Graham. . . how about you and Miss Hoyt?"

Tommy Gale continued to stand in the doorway. His eyes, beneath the pulled-down brim of a gray fedora, were looking straight at Caroline. From across the distance of half the room, over the heads of all those newspaper men, whom she had never seen before and would never see again, they were remembering, and making her remember, that twice he had held her in his arms and kissed her, and that each time she had clung to him and kissed him back. In an otherwise emotionless face, those incredibly blue eyes of his were smiling at her deliberately, refusing to forget any of it, or to let her forget. And she was determined to forget. . . if she was to go on with Alec, if she was to find any peace or measure of happiness at all in life, she had to forget.

So she said now, laying one hand quickly on Alec's arm, color mounting to her cheekbones, her chin lifted defensively. "Yes. You can say that we both wish to announce our engagement to each other. . ."

that we will be married as soon as Mr. Graham returns from London.

A gong sounded somewhere in the ship and Alec said, "That means, I'm afraid, that you all have to leave."

And it was not until they were up on deck with the band playing strictly and people pushing and jostling them, that Alec managed to say to Caroline, "Thank you, darling, that was the sweetest and most gallant gesture you could possibly have made. You couldn't have sent me away happier."

Then he was saying to Tommy, "See she gets home safely, won't you, old man?"

"I'll be glad to do that," said Tommy. "Have a good time in London and give my love to Gina." He said, "Come on, Caroline, or we'll have to come back with the tender."

For a long while, it seemed to Caroline, she had been standing waving to a ship that was slowly moving down New York harbor. Now it was much too far away to wave to anyone, and suddenly she and Tommy were alone together. That is, they were alone in a crowd of hurrying incurious people, all intent on getting away as quickly as possible from this cold, barn-like structure of a place which had become utterly desolate with the sailing of a great ship.

Tommy said, "We'd better beat it if we want to pick up a cab. . . Better button that coat up, this place is like a morgue." She buttoned her tawed coat up close to her throat. She thought that in this pushing, hurrying crowd of people he might have taken her arm. He didn't. He said, instead, "Don't you ever wear anything except those funny little berets?"

"I don't look well in most hats. . . Better button that coat up, this place is like a morgue." She buttoned her tawed coat up close to her throat. She thought that in this pushing, hurrying crowd of people he might have taken her arm. He didn't. He said, instead, "Don't you ever wear anything except those funny little berets?"

"All you need," said Tommy coolly, "is a skipping rope and some red and white striped socks."

She didn't answer him. There was nothing, she decided, that you could say to a remark like that. She wondered, a little wearily, why he chose to be so disagreeable. She wondered, even more wearily, if he had not shown up like that back there in Alec's stateroom, whether she would have made that announcement. She thought that probably she wouldn't have. And wondered dully why his appearing like that had disturbed her so tremendously. . . she wasn't feeling anything now. She thought, "For the first time in my life I am with him and he isn't stirring me at all. . . I don't feel anything. . . but presently I will begin to again."

In Memoriam

SIMON ADAMS departed this life one year ago today, May 27, 1937. A precious one from us has gone. A voice we loved is still. A place is vacant in our home. Which never can be filled. God in His wisdom has recalled. The boon His love had given. And though the body slumbers here May his soul rest in peace. Greatly missed by his son and daughters.

Theater Attractions

The Ritz Brothers in a scene from their new comedy, "Kentucky Moonshine," which will be seen at the State tomorrow and Saturday.

The three mad Ritz brothers head the excellent comedy cast of "Kentucky Moonshine," showing at the State tonight and Saturday. The musical end of the picture is handled by Tony Martin and the romantic interest is Marjorie Weaver.

Three New Songs

And aside from all the mad antics, the picture contains three new songs by the same team which made the college picture a tuneful sensation. Lew Pollock and Sidney Mitchell wrote "Moonshine Over Kentucky," "Reuben, Reuben, I've Been Swinging" and "Sing a Song of Harvest."

The plot, what the Ritz Brothers leave of it, is fairly plausible.

A radio company sends its talent scout, Tony Martin, down to Kentucky to get some real hill-billies. Marjorie Weaver, waiting to land in a part of the jungle where white people are not known. Jack Holt, Jacqueline Wells and Dick Purcell have the featured roles in the film which shows at the Grand tonight and Saturday.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Mabel Dickey was hostess to the Clover Leaf club May 21 when 16 members attended a meeting at her home. A ball game, picnic and business meeting marked the gathering. The club will meet next June 8.

Plans for an ice cream festival were made when the Glenmore 4-H club met at the United Presbyterian church May 21. Members also discussed organization of a chorus.

Officers were elected by the Busy Bees at a meeting May 21 at the Yellow Creek school. Eight members attending selected "Busy Bees" as the club name.

The Woodville Workers met May 24 at George Trombitt's home with 10 present. The proposed boat trip in August was discussed. The next meeting will be held June 7.

Several games and plans for future activities characterized the meeting May 21 of the Outdoor Workers. Mabel May Price is the hostess when the club holds its next meeting Saturday.

The Spoon and Scissors club elected officers at a meeting May 23 with nine present. Members decided to hold gatherings every Wednesday at 2 p. m.

A committee was appointed by officers of the New Garden Junior Farmers to draw up a constitution for the club when the club gathered at Lowell Andre's May 19. The group meets next May 31.
